Club Honors Past Presidents At Luncheon

The Country Woman's club opened its club year Monday with a daintily appointed luncheon served by the members of the board of directors.

Mrs. Charles Simonds had arranged the attractive decorations, which centered the tables, composed of gourds, vegetables and fruits. A lovely bowl of zinnias was on the fireplace mantel from which hung two bright serapes.

Places for the past presidents were marked with cards and favors of gay little peppers tied with bows of varicolored yarns.

Preceding the serving, the members pledged allegiance to the flag, and sang the national anthem, and then were led in prayer by Mrs. E. R. Kennedy.

The president, Mrs. George E. Jeffers extended a welcome to the club members and presented the past presidents in attendance, Mrs. E. I. Price, first president of the club; Mrs. W. R. Morgan, junior past president; Mrs. L. J. Carboni, Mrs. F. L. Howes, Mrs. R. H. Hyde, Mrs. E. R. Kennedy and Mrs. H. C. Smith.

Lawrence Greer of the Pacific Gas and Electric company of San Jose, who was the guest speaker, gave a most informative and interesting talk on "The Intimate and Increasing Importance of Our Southern Neighbors to the United States," creating a splendid background for the year's theme, "Our Neighbors to the South; Mexico and the Countries of Central and South America."

Mrs. Greer accompanied her husband as a guest of the club.

The program was concluded with delightful solos by Mrs. Hubert Wagner with Mrs. Virginia Rutherford, accompanist. Her selections were in harmony with the topic, Siboney (Lecuona), Estrellita (Ponce) and Celito Lindo (Wallis).

The hostesses for the day were the Mesdames G. E. Jeffers, W. H. Van Dyke, J. O. Leverton, Ellis Crane, E. L. Farnham, W. R. Morgan, A. W. Wellington and Charles Simonds. Mrs. Sue Boyce was unable to be present.

The members voted to do Red Cross sewing at the meeting and Mrs. Frank Jacobson was appointed chairman of a committee to take charge of the work.

She requested that the ladies come prepared with a bone crochet hook or needle and thimble to do blanket stitch on the blocks for the hospital lap robes. Either method is acceptable as the workers prefer.

Next Monday, Oct. 5, being the first Monday of the month is regular meeting day and Dr. Reynolds of the adult center in San Jose will discuss "Political Relations."

The World's Richest Man Found It Didn't Pay

By Robert Ripley

Ashurbanipal of Assyria, the richest man who ever lived, was worth a trillion and a half dollars—75 times as much gold as held in the United States Treasury. Yet it availed him nothing! Neither he nor his son had the sense to use this wealth for the good of their people or for their protection.

And so it was comparatively easy for Nabopolassar and the King of the Medes to invade Assyria and enslave it. And finally, when defeat stared the great King in the face—when it was too late—Ashurbanipal in terror, had a tremendous platform built of polished wood, in the city of Nineveh, and on top of this he heaped all of his wealth—142,000 tons of gold in ingots 7 by 28 inches in size, and each valued at 50,000 dollars. This treasure formed a pyramid of shining gold nearly one hundred feet high and in the intervening spaces he placed all of his jewels and personal belongs—his wives on golden beds—his children—even his pet dog.

And then a great quantity of oil was poured on top of this golden mass, and when the torch was applied, the King himself walked in and laid himself down among everything he valued in life. And so the great Ashurbanipal, the richest man in the world, was consumed in his own wealth—he immolated himself and became part of this great conglomerated melted mass of money—and so ended the Empire of the Assyrians. And it never rose again.

Why? Because Ashurbanipal, who had practically all the money in the world, didn't do anything with it! And he and his country were lost.

Even his conquerors—the Medes and the Persians—made this same mistake—they came, saw, conquered, and confiscated this great golden molten mass of money that was once the king's and the wealth of the great Empire of Assyria—what did they do with it? Nothing!

They melted it into money again and in generations since it has been remelted a thousand times—until, Believe It or Not, it is a mathematical fact that every golden coin used in the world today contains in it some minute particle of Ashurbanipal himself, the King who had all the money in the world but didn't know what to do with it!

What are we going to do with our money today? Enemies threaten us the same as they threatened Ashurbanipal in 626 B. C. The United States of today, like the Assyria of Ashurbanipal, is the richest nation in the World. What will it avail us?

Nothing?

Surely nothing more than it did Ashurbanipal unless we do something with it. And there is only one thing to do—and that is to Buy Bonds and Stamps and make our money directly available to our country—help our country—otherwise it will become a melted molten mass and we the people will be destroyed as Ashurbanipal was destroyed 2600 years ago.

DEEP IN THE HEART — —

Deep in the heart of Nebraska there's a spirit and a will, as demonstrated in its scrap collection drive, that have achieved a minor epic.

Government officials have been stunned at the amazingly high total turned in by residents of that state in the past three weeks. With all the fervor of an old time crusade, youngsters of 12 to oldsters of 80 scoured every city, town and county of the state, ransacked every barn, explored every weed patch, attic and garage. They brought in a vast haul of scrap ranging from hairpins, retrieved from abandoned birds' nests, to the metal trusses of an old, submerged bridge. Hundreds of trucks gave their services free to participate in twilight pick-ups of scrap collections. Businessmen drove into the country to load and collect scrap on farms.

Newspapers, service clubs, radio stations, civic and welfare organizations, all joined in a hustling campaign to get out the scrap. And get it out they did—a total of 136,171,012 pounds, or nearly 104 pounds per person for every one of state's 1,315,000 inhabitants.

Nonetheless, we refuse to concede Nebraskans final victory in the scrap campaign which, from now till October 17, will find the whole nation carrying forward a massed attack on this front. Californians, too, know the fateful necessity of getting in the scrap to keep production lines turning out tanks, guns and planes without a moment's slackening. Deep in the heart of California, and of America, there's a spirit that says, "We'll back up our men on the fighting front to the limit of our power!"

BACK TO SCHOOL

Almost all California schools opened for the fall term on Sept. 28 and students are sitting at desks in every classroom.

School life will be much the same in war as it was in peace; for the greatest bulwark of democracy, education of the nation's youth, must be maintained at full strength, whatever the dislocations of other phases of American life brought by the exigencies of all-out war.

Yet there are differences in school life, unique to every student of every age. Not all schools opened on schedule. Some postponements were authorized to enable patriotic high school boys to help harvest crops endangered by the labor shortage. There is, too, an air of solemn purpose that likely is sensed by the plastic minds of youngsters in the elementary grades. Many desks in junior colleges and high schools, as well as universities, are vacant because the lads who sat at them last year are now with the armed forces.

But those are differences of war-time circumstances. Fundamentally, there is no change in the processes of public education as California's youth goes back to school. As always, the basic function of the schools remains fixed and unchanging: to equip the children of today with the knowledge and training they must have in order to use the tools of self-government effectively on a not distant tomorrow.

It is all the better that school life, by teachers and students, must be taken most seriously in this year while America fights for her life and her freedom—for the future responsibilities of this generation of school boys and girls will require the utmost of the mental and moral resources of democratic citizenship.

TYPEWRITERS WANTED!

If you have a typewriter you can do without, please turn it in to us. We need it—badly!

That is the plea of the Army and Navy. Every Army bomber requires a typewriter. A battleship requires 59 typewriters, an aircraft carrier 55, a cruiser 30, a destroyer 7. These are essential to fast and clear transmission of messages and orders. Offices, plants, schools and institutions are being asked to turn in 25 per cent of their typewriters to the WPB at standard trade-in prices.

If your business or home has a typewriter you can spare, let Uncle Sam have it. It'll help him write that final word of Victory.

MAIL SOLDIERS' XMAS GIFTS BEFORE NOVEMBER 1.

READ THE RULES—The following rules, issued by the Postoffice Department in cooperation with the Army Postal Service of the War Department, apply to the mailing of Christmas parcels for members of our Armed Forces serving outside the continental limits of the United States.

TIME OF MAILING—Christmas parcels and greeting cards should be mailed during the period beginning October 1 and ending November 1, 1942, the earlier the better. Each package should be endorsed "Christmas Parcel." Special effort will be made for delivery in time for Christmas.

SIZE AND WEIGHT—Christmas parcels shall not exceed 11 pounds in weight, or 18 inches in length or 42 inches in length and girth combined. However, the public has been urged to cooperate by voluntarily restricting parcels to the size of an ordinary shoe box and the weight to six pounds.

USE CARE IN PREPARATION—Remembering the great distance this mail will be transported and the necessary storage and frequent handling, it is absolutely necessary that articles be packed in substantial boxes or containers and be covered with wrappings of sufficient strength to resist pressure of other mail. Each parcel is subject to censorship and delay may be minimized by securing covering to permit ready inspection of contents.

PROHIBITED MATTER—Intoxicants, inflammable materials, poisons or compositions likely to damage mails are unmailable. No perishable matter should be included in parcels.

HOW TO ADDRESS PARCELS—Addresses must be legible. Parcels addressed to overseas Army personnel should show in addition to the full name and address of the sender, the name rank, Army serial number, branch of service, organization, A.P.O. number of the addressee and the postoffice through which parcels are to be routed. Units located within the continental United States may be addressed direct, using name, rank, organization and location.

POSTAGE MUST BE FULLY PREPAID—The rate on parcels of fourth-class matter (exceeding eight ounces) being the zone rate applicable from the postoffice where mailed to the postoffice in the care of which parcels are addressed.

GREETING MESSAGES PERMISSIBLE—Inscriptions such as "Merry Christmas," "Don't open until Christmas" and the like may be placed on the covering of the parcel if it does not interfere with the address. Cards may be enclosed and books may bear a simple dedicatory inscription.

INSURANCE AND REGISTRY—Gifts of value should be insured. Articles of small size and considerable value should be sealed and sent as first-class registered mail.

MONEY ORDERS—The Army Postal Service recommends use of postal money orders to transmit gifts of money to members of Armed Forces outside the United States. These are cashed at A.P.O. in local foreign currency at rate of exchange on date of presentation.

Del Mutolo Helped Get College Library

San Jose State College appreciates the capable efforts of Assemblyman M. G. Del Mutolo, now a candidate for the State senate, who was largely responsible for securing the much-needed new library building now in the college campus.

Acknowledgment of Del Mutolo's effective services is contained in a letter received by Del Mutolo from Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie, president of San Jose State College. Dr. MacQuarrie states that it is his constant policy to keep out of political campaigns. However, he adds:

"That does not keep me from expressing my deep appreciation for the help you have given us at Sacramento. Nobody could have been more wholehearted in his support to the college; no one could, I am sure, have given us a more valuable service."

Need Filled

This letter is not the only expression Dr. MacQuarrie made of his attitude. In the recent college commencement address, "On my own initiative, and as a very modest expression of appreciation," Dr. MacQuarrie declared: "The old library, built after the earthquake of 1906, had been inadequate for many years. A new one had long been on our 'must' program, but in spite of our best efforts it was not until two years ago that the funds were finally available."

"I wish to make a statement here which I hope you will understand is not political, but an honest giving of credit where credit is due. Simply and candidly, we have that building today because of the hard work and sincere efforts of our representatives in the last legislature, May 1 here and now express to them the thanks of the college community, faculty, students and friends."

Assemblyman Del Mutolo, a veteran of two terms in the State legislature, is running as an independent candidate for State Senator.

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR
Executive Secretary
Agricultural Council of California

American farmers, in their fight in Washington to require that the cost of farm labor be taken into consideration in computing parity for the purpose of fixing ceilings on agricultural commodities, are fighting not only to defend their own industry from chaos and disaster, but also—and much more important!—to avert a breakdown in production of farm produce that would play havoc with the whole country and the whole war effort!

The farmers (and America will some day be grateful to them) have stayed by their guns, despite a storm of misrepresentation and propaganda, designed to whip up public resentment against agriculture and to distort and confuse the issue.

And Congress, finally recognizing the danger to the nation in any program that deals drastically with prices, but tenderly and gingerly with wages, has had the courage and good sense to include an amendment in the anti-inflation bill specifically requiring that farm labor costs be included in computing parity.

There is nothing selfish nor unsound in that amendment; to the contrary, anything less would seriously cripple the ability of American farmers to produce and would invite disaster, with a dangerous possibility that America and its allies would find themselves before long trying to work and fight on starvation or semi-starvation rations.

It is about time that government officials, industrial leaders and labor leaders awakened to the seriousness of the calamity which may follow if, for reasons of political expediency, Washington continues to procrastinate on fixing wages, while insisting on fixing prices. And it is about time that some of them recognized that America, like most of the rest of the world will be forced to go on short rations if farm production is drastically curtailed or crippled by refusal to stabilize all the factors which determine agriculture's costs at the same time that they seek to stabilize farm prices.

If it is to be the policy of the government to placate labor until after the November elections—and to attempt to make it appear that farmers are selfish when the real selfishness lies elsewhere—then it is time that the farmers of America started educating the people on the price that the nation must pay for that type of political compromise. It is begging the question to say that wages will be fixed at some later date; if prices are fixed, wages must be fixed—and the two done together. Any other course is simply political cowardice that would seriously retard production and put the nation on short rations at a time when this country must not only feed and supply its own, but its allies on the world's war fronts.

Congress has seen the light and it is to be hoped that President Roosevelt, instead of nullifying the action of the Congress, will approve of it.

To that end, a letter has been sent to the President,

POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

California teachers and educational leaders — always alert to possible danger to the schools during a period of upheaval, such as the present war emergency — have suddenly discovered that they have double reason to be interested in the outcome of the current contest for Governor.

In addition to the fact that the incoming Governor will be called upon to cope with many urgency problems of importance to the schools as a result of dislocations occasioned by the war, the new state executive, during his first month in office, will have the appointment of seven members to the state board of education.

As a consequence, the new Governor's appointees will constitute a majority of the ten-member state educational board throughout the coming four years, which are likely to be critical years for the whole educational system.

The interest of school leaders in the new appointments to the state board, has been intensified by the Silver-Burdette textbook scandal which has kept Governor Olson's appointees on the educational body in hot water for most of their tenure. Four of Governor Olson's appointees to the board have not been confirmed by the Senate and three other vacancies will occur as a result of term expirations signed by Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation; Albert S. Goss, master of the National Grange, and H. E. Babcock, president of the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives. Because it presents a rational, intelligent and sound analysis of the issue, that letter should be read by every American, desirous of getting at the truth in the current controversy. The letter follows:

"Dear Mr. President:

"We, the heads of farm organizations whose members produce most of the food and fibre raised in this country, feel it is our duty to inform you that there is grave danger of a shortage of food and fibre next year unless the ceilings of farm prices are so adjusted as to enable farmers to meet essential production costs. The establishment of any ceiling on farm products which omits farm labor, as an item of cost, will fail of its purpose. The responsibility for the future food and fibre supply of the nation must rest squarely on the shoulders of those who deny consumers of food and fibre this protection.

It is our duty to point out to you that the best protection against inflation is abundant production. Already the production of food and fibre in this country has passed its peak. Unless farmers can pay adequate farm wages, production of these essentials will continue to decline. The demand on farm labor by the military services and the attractive wages and shorter hours of labor which are already prevailing in industry, are resulting in farm laborers, farm boys and girls, and even farm operators, leaving our farms in ever increasing numbers."

before January 15.

One extreme follows another in politics. During the primary gubernatorial campaign Governor Olson undoubtedly suffered from blatant overconfidence on the part of his supporters.

Now the situation is completely reversed, in view of Warren's strong primary showing, and a wave of defeatism has hit the Olson camp. Typifying the new defeatist attitude is the report that State Director of Public Works Frank Clarke, one of the Governor's right-hand men, has arranged to give up his lease on his Sacramento penthouse, effective Nov. 1.

The betting commissioners have made Tom Dewey a 3-to-1 favorite to win the Governorship of New York state, according to latest advices.

When Big Jim Farley tipped over President Roosevelt's slate at the New York Democratic Convention, he not only licked the President; he apparently licked the Democratic party (and his own candidate), for the New York polls indicate an almost certain GOP victory.
